

Is your workplace environment putting workers' health at risk?

Many workplace environments pose health risks to employees that need to be monitored and minimised. There is a legal requirement under the Health and Safety at Work Act (2015) for employers to monitor the health of their workers where risk has been identified.

We offer:

- Hearing Testing
- Lung Function Testing
- Vision Assessments

- Hearing testing – Audiometry assessment to check and monitor hearing from noise exposure in the workplace
- Lung function testing – Spirometry assessment to test lung function following contaminant exposures such as: dust, fibres, fumes, and gases
- Vision assessments – Close up and distance, and/or colour visual assessment to ensure good vision for safety at work

We provide onsite monitoring, reporting of test results and recommendation for further actions. Monitoring is tailored to meet your company's unique needs.
